Why Attend

Employee wellbeing is a critical factor in organizational performance, productivity, and retention. Workplace stress, interpersonal conflicts, burnout, and personal challenges can significantly impact employee engagement and overall organizational effectiveness.

Workplace counseling provides a structured approach to supporting employees, improving mental wellbeing, and creating a healthier and more supportive work environment.

This programme is designed to equip HR professionals, managers, and people-focused roles with the essential skills to understand, support, and respond to employee emotional and psychological needs within the workplace context—while maintaining professionalism, boundaries, and organizational policies.

Course Methodology

This programme is highly practical and interactive:

- Real-world workplace scenarios and case studies
- Role-playing and counseling simulation exercises
- Guided discussions on employee wellbeing challenges
- Practical communication and listening skill development
- Tools and frameworks for workplace support

Course Objectives

By the end of this programme, participants will be able to:

- Understand the principles of workplace counseling and employee wellbeing
- Recognize signs of stress, burnout, and emotional distress
- Apply effective listening and communication techniques
- Support employees in a professional and ethical manner
- Manage sensitive workplace situations appropriately
