Why Attend

Why Attend Risk-based auditing enables organizations to focus audit resources on the areas of highest risk and greatest value. Instead of reviewing activities in isolation, modern auditors are expected to assess strategic, operational, financial, and compliance risks while supporting stronger governance and decision-making. This course provides participants with practical tools to develop risk-based audit plans, evaluate enterprise risk management processes, and conduct effective audits of complex business activities.

Course Methodology This course uses an interactive and practical approach through presentations, case studies, audit workshops, risk assessments, group discussions, practical exercises, and real workplace examples.

Course Objectives

- Understand modern risk-based auditing principles
- Link internal audit with enterprise risk management
- Evaluate risk management processes and controls
- Develop strategic and annual audit plans
- Apply risk-based auditing techniques in practice
